What is Private Label?

Private Label refers to SBC Foods manufacturing a product of its own formulation, and packaging it under the customer's label. In some cases, SBC Foods may develop a private label formula exclusively for a customer. In either case, under a private label agreement, SBC Foods retains ownership of the formula.

What is Co-Packaging?

Co-packaging refers to a customer's proprietary formulation, which SBC Foods produces under a contractual agreement. The customer retains all rights to and ownership of the proprietary formula. Further more SBC Foods signs a nondisclosure agreement for bidding it to produce or share the customer's formulation without prior approval.
